Compulsory REVISION comments	Aim is not clear. Parameter analysed are not linked with one another, like anticandidal activity, total phenolic content and flavonoid content as well as oil content is how affected with various treatments. Data is found in fragments like no connections amongst. Introduction and Conclusion are poorly written and discussion is not up to the mark. Results must be discussed in details. No uniformity found in References.
Minor REVISION comments	I expected the introduction part to be more comprehensive and rich in cited literary sources.unlike the abstract,the article does not have clear goal.the conclusion should contain an element of comparision.
Optional/General comments	To take into account the pose remark .Pay attention to style and grammatical errors.
