Compulsory REVISION comments	The work entitled: Influence of different doses and methods of Phosphorus Solubilizing Bacteria and phosphorus levels on the population of phosphorus solubilizing bacteria and on the efficiency of phosphorus use in sunflower and chickpeas. It is important for scientific advancement in the field of soil inoculants. However, some improvements must be made for this to be accepted for publication. The article will need a good correction in English, as well as corrections regarding the discussion and statistical treatment, which must be presented in the tables and graphs in the form of letters or symbols that represent this result. Therefore, I suggest an improvement throughout the article.
