Compulsory REVISION comments	The manuscript is an original experiment to be published. Thus, it still requires a topic about analysis of the data with the model of Anova and a description of the test applied to discriminate the treatments. The figures in the Tables in the results and discussion still requires the representation where are the differences discriminating these treatments. The small letters. The Figure 1 is not appropriated to the text and has to be modified. The readability is ok, but it still demands improvements. The methodology requires more explanation to readers in case of application of these methods, otherwise the robustness of the manuscript will be reduced.
Minor REVISION comments	Please, see the balloons attached to the manuscript.
Optional/General comments	Please, send the references to the Librarian for correction, if any.
