Compulsory REVISION comments	The article is important and of interest for publication however, there are some serious problems that can be fixed. Among them we have: the non-presentation of soil fertility conditions; of plant management, for example for the fungus Puccinia psidii the use of cupric fungicides are recommended. The main interest is production, so the quality obtained with the management of densities and pruning must be related to the production of guava. Other observations are made in the text.
