Compulsory REVISION comments	In my opinion, the results of the research presented in the manuscript under the title "Growth and Yield of Bitter gourd as Influenced by Gibberellic acid and Naphthalene acidic acid (Momordica charantia L.)" should not be published. 1- The manuscript requires extensive improvements in terms of both language and scientific content and in particular, to supplement the details in the methodology and the results presented, moreover full statistical analysis (ANOVA) is also required. 2- Please refer to the attached word document for the specific comment. 3- The used material to treatment of plants including GA and NAA has to different physiological effect on the flower sex of cucurbitaceae family. For example, in cucumber plant using GA3 stimulates male flower. So, some articles are presented in journals with this topic. Use these articles to complete this manuscript. 4- The number of studied traits is not sufficient. Therefore, based on previous published articles, it is recommended to add the number of male and female flowers, the ratio of them. 5- The abstract isn't standard and need to rewrite. 6- The discussion of the article is very weak and needs to be rewritten.
