PART 1: Review Comments

	Reviewer's comment	Author's comment (if agreed with reviewer, correct the manuscript and highlight that part in the manuscript. It is mandatory that authors should write his/her feedback here)
Compulsory REVISION comments	But the study has shortcomings because you have not tested your hypothesis. You didn't even measure people's behavior, but you were content with their statement of intent; You need to explore their behavior (have you been to the hospital in the last 3 months if you were sick? Why not? Have you had a Covid-19 vaccination? Have you accompanied someone to the hospital for care reasons in the last 3 months? And so on.) To test the hypothesis, you need to cross this dependent variable (behavior) with perceptions (independent variables).
Minor REVISION comments	In the tables, a decimal is enough in a scientific article like this.
Optional/General comments	This is an article made on a topical and interesting topic. But the authors need to deepen it with cross-analyses in order to test their own hypothesis.
