Compulsory REVISION comments	Please add how you obtained consent from the patients you included in your study
Minor REVISION comments	Describe the study design with more details. What data was collected retrospectively and what prospectively? Did you include all patients presented within the study periode OR did you use a random sample technique? In case you used a sampling technique please describe it. Write down some sentences about the key findings in the result section. I think you could use your raw data for some correlation checks like cause of injury and age, to analyse your data more in dept. Add the limitations of your study at the end of the discussion. I give some ideas in my comments in the manuscript. You might add some of the recent papers on head injury within Africa for your introduction and discussion. I recommend a pubmed search.
Optional/General comments	Overall, this is a good manuscript of an often neglected public health problem in the Global South. It contributes to the growing evidence of the burden of head injury due to road traffic accidents.
