Compulsory REVISION comments	The very contribution of this article is not clear. The paper seems to be a review on the application of decision tree in agriculture. However, that is missing here we have not found anywhere in this article about the application of decision tree in agricultural sector. There are many typos and grammatical errors that needs to be corrected. The paper smiley discusses decision tree algorithms which is obvious to anyone in the field and lacks scientific merit to the field. The author has to make the problem and their motivations in the introduction section and the alternative solution briefly thought out
Minor REVISION comments	Incorporate relevant studies as review paper 5 reference is not adequate for survey paper
Optional/General comments
