Compulsory REVISION comments	<ul style="list-style-type: none">- Language and technical editing of the manuscript is strongly advised.- Inclusion of a short literature overview about emergency remote learning and online learning during the Covid 19 pandemic to motivate the importance of this research study.
Minor REVISION comments	<ul style="list-style-type: none">- Added suggestions in text
Optional/General comments	Interesting article. I am surprised to see how many manuscripts about this topic have been published in such a short time span. This indicates the relevance and importance of the research. Thank you for an interesting and well-formulated article. I hope the authors will publish more about the implementation of emergency remote learning in their immediate environment. It was not an easy process to negotiate during a worldwide pandemic, but lecturers and students were indeed very resourceful and creative and managed to continue with teaching and learning despite the difficulties and challenges experienced. We can indeed learn a lot from each other.
