Compulsory REVISION comments	<ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. As tear emissions reduce in more advanced diseases, the results become more reproducible. In lense to average disease, however, has limited usefulness. This sentence needs to corrected. 2. The present study aims to create an awareness of dry eyes among dental students. The aim does not correlate with the title of the study. 3. An online survey was conducted with a self-administered questionnaire with a sample size of 100 participants comprising the dental population The word dentalpopulation needs clarification as to who among the dental population were included. The title says dental students 4. questions that help in providing awareness among the participants The title says to know the awareness of dry eye among dental students but the present sentence says that the questions were to provide awareness among the participants. The sentence needs to be changed 5. Results and Discussion : The results and discussion segments are usually not presented together in an original article and these have to be separated 6. Results are completely represented in pie diagrams. The results if framed in sentences would be better for the reader 7. Over all the manuscript needs improvement in language and help of a person proficient in English language needs to be taken to improve the language of the manuscript
