Compulsory REVISION comments	This is an interesting case report of a young patient who suffered a capitellar fracture, i.e. a fracture within the elbow joint, which was treated surgically successfully and fixed by using a Herbert screw. The authors tried very hard to describe an interesting case treated with a novel and successful method. However, their use of the English language is not adequate and they did not succeed to convey their message adequately.
Minor REVISION comments	The use of the English language should be drastically improved. The authors should try to convey their interesting and important message adequately.
Optional/General comments	Please improve the description of the case
