Compulsory REVISION comments	Since the appearance of COVID-19 outbreak in 2019, biosafety politics remain in force due to the new variant that have emerged recently. From this point of view, this document clearly describes a set of guidelines and safety protocols that might be followed in microscopy laboratories to avoid contamination by professionals whose perform diagnosis or developed research in pathology. it is suggested to take into account the recommendations before access to the workplace, practice a good hygiene all time, and enhance the precautions measures in microscopes. On the other hand, guidelines for personnel protections, and educational institutions are clearly and consistently addressed.
Minor REVISION comments	References that were highlighted with red color into the text, do not correspond to the mentioned website and it was not possible to download the files. I encourage you to review the webpage of each reference or change it for new ones that could be obtained from reported articles in specialized journals.
