Compulsory REVISION comments	It is my pleasure to have such a great opportunity to the review the present scientific paper related to COVID-19, which is currently a global issue affecting every corner of the world without any geographical, or economic level difference. A great work was conducted by a researcher. If the paper is submitted as systematic review and meta-analysis it must be rejected. However, if it is submitted as research review, the following things need to be modified. <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Please insert page number. 2. Abstract part is major modification. For example, posttraumatic stress disorder is well stated in there. So hard to grasp the general information from there. 3. In introduction, prevalence of posttraumatic stress disorder needs to be well described from global to local. Therefore, put in more, current literature into the paper to get scientific attention. 4. In introduction, paragraph 2 is so long, without much reference that looks plagiarism. Therefore, it needs rephrasing and more about factors related to development of posttraumatic stress must be incorporated. 5. In introduction, paragraph 3 which stated "It has altered people's social life worldwide and added new isolation and quarantine measures to their lives. The loss of true human relationships and emergence in uncertainty is known to influence their mental health. This isolation affects stress and anxiety. The COVID-19 pandemic caused significant psychological consequences not only because of the fast spread of the disease [4]" needs to move to the lower part of introduction. 6. In introduction, paragraph 5 the way PTSD definition was described is not standard, please check different research paper how definition is stated, and make it standard. 7. In introduction, paragraph 5 the source from PTSD definition was taken must be stated. 8. In introduction, please put paragraph 6 before paragraph 5 to make sense of continuation. 9. Since the aim of the study was "post-traumatic stress disorder following COVID-19 Pandemic" the last sentence in the introduction must be removed which stated "Trauma-focussed psychotherapy is considered as the first-line treatment effective in adults as well as children, and it includes trauma-focused CBT...." 10. More literature related to mechanism by which COVID-19 causes post-traumatic

	stress disorder must be incorporated into the document 11. Since the paper is not systematic review and meta-analysis, please remove aim of the study, Methods and statistical analysis and their contents from the paper. 12. Standard referencing was not used in the document. For example, Sultana et al. (2021).....[22]. Please check referencing guideline of the Journal of Pharmaceutical Research International. 13. By removing the literature review title, please strength the introduction with the contents of literature review. 14. The discussion section is very small; please elaborate it with as many current research works. 15. The aim and the discussion section has no relation, please make it to have a sense. 16. Please correct all editorial, and grammatical errors.
