PART 1: Review Comments

	Reviewer's comment	Author's comment (if agreed with reviewer, correct the manuscript and highlight that part in the manuscript. It is mandatory that authors should write his/her feedback here)
Compulsory REVISION comments	In the article submitted for consideration, the authors demonstrated convincing understanding of the fact that the question of choosing a future specialization remains one of the most relevant in the field of research. In my opinion, objective results were obtained for the most preferred specialties were Internal medicine (37.9%), followed by surgery (35.5%), then family medicine (27%). While the field of anesthesiology was chosen by 14.5% of the participants. However, in answer to a separate question, 79.8% of respondents have not considered it as their future career.
Minor REVISION comments	In addition, a significant positive of the study is the ability of the authors to operate with the received materials and correctly assess the practical side of the strategy of formation of future anesthesiologists. The importance of the profession of anesthesiologist now, in particular, is evidenced by the huge number of patients with Covid-19 in intensive care units.
Optional/General comments	The study found that, unfortunately, anesthesiology is not a priority for students of King Abdulaziz University Hospital Jeddah. Professional explanatory work with students is needed on the needs of the labor market and the demands of potential employers.
