Compulsory REVISION comments	<ol style="list-style-type: none">1. The abstract does not communicate well the main findings of the study. No quantitative data about main finding. The abstract is need to improve.2. Introduction. Studies should be included that explain the mechanism of action of ascorbic acid.3. The data is conducted once in 2018 so I think it should be repeated and in material and method section survey or data sheet is also missing. The analysis of the data is unclear and statistical analysis also lacking.3. Discussion section need to improve by adding some more literature that support the study.
Minor REVISION comments	Remove use from keywords Remove more from conclusion section after furthermore
Optional/General comments	The paper is well-thought-out, and interesting. However, before publishing, some corrections are needed to improve the study level and get it more informative. Therefore, I suggest some corrections for this manuscript.
