Compulsory REVISION comments	Well done, indeed. Based on its scientific merit, I can most kindly recommend Your highly informed (knowledgeable) manuscript (MS) for the publishing in a forthcoming issue of this esteemed Journal. Generally speaking, this promising MS is quite well written. While the text is easy and clear to read, the conclusions are consistent with the evidence and arguments presented. More precisely, they do address the main question posed as a whole. Recommendation: Minor Changes (Minor Revision) Please, kindly improve a bit the English language. Without a doubt, there is yet a room for the language and style improvement. In addition to this, the respected Authors are most affably requested to consider the citing of the following references throughout the text of their enlightening MS: <ul style="list-style-type: none">- Journal of Natural Products 2008, 71(11), 1850–1853.
