Optional/General comments	This work is done to create a new ultra-high-resolution liquid chromatographic technology for estimating Blonanserin in APIs and tablets. The Blonanserin was analysed using Ultra performance liquid chromatography (UPLC) Acquity Waters, PDA detector. The validation parameters' findings were evaluated and confirmed to meet the ICH Q2B guidelines' acceptance criteria. The newly discovered approach can be used as an innovative, reliable, and validated method for routine analytical and quality control assays of Blonanserin in both bulk and tablet dosage forms. Manuscript is very well written and recommended for publication in the journal.
