Compulsory REVISION comments	<ol style="list-style-type: none">1. The effects of lifestyle modifications on DNA damage might be increasing progressively with different ages, so age factors should be taken into account.2. The flow chart, solution formulas and example results should be provided to indicate the feasibility of the protocol.3. The setting of groups and controls is very important. It should be refined. Too many factors might contribute to DFI, which is the priority factor and how defined it in your project?
Minor REVISION comments	<ol style="list-style-type: none">1. Many and many typo, grammas, format errors. Checked carefully before submission.2. The keywords that will not be studied should be removed.
Optional/General comments	The article intend to investigate the effects of smoking habits and alcohol consumption on DFI and further explore the relationship of lifestyle related DFI and clinical outcome of ATR. If it is designed and conducted thoroughly, the study will be very meaningful for human reproductive health.
