Minor REVISION comments	The paper has an interesting topic with a detailed approach. English needs to be improved. Some sentences in the Introduction are repetitive. There are also a lot of spelling mistakes. I suggest authors to make changes in the style of writing the text and to avoid the use of the pronoun I in sentences.
Optional/General comments	This work has a rather philosophical basis, the question arises as to what is crucial that makes it original and unique? What are the main contributions of such a critique of the theory of relativity? Why the reviewers should be shocked after reading this manuscript?
